Coyotes Accepted Into NCAA

The Cal State Coyotes will launch their intercollegiate athletics programs tomorrow as official members of the NCAA, Division III. Athletic Director Reg Price received word last Friday that the university's application for membership in the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. has been approved.

"It's especially meaningful to have approval one week and games starting the next," he added, expressing pleasure that the membership was granted before the season opened. The application for membership in the local conference, the SCAC, is still pending.

The first home meet for the Coyotes will pit a young, inexperienced soccer team against the veteran University of Redlands squad at 10 a.m. at the Physical Education Complex. Coach Cherif Zein will pick his opening 11 from a squad of about 20 men. That night the Coyotes travel to Occidental College for a 7:30 game.

Also launching their first meet at the same time--10 a.m., Saturday--are the men's and women's cross country teams who will compete at Los Angeles Baptist College in LaVerne. Coach Tom Burleson's teams face eight meets this season.

The women's volleyball team debuts at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, Sept. 25, hosting Pomona-Pitzer in the Cal State gym. The first six women on the court will be picked from a squad of 15 by Coach Naomi Ruderman.

Uni Fest Open House To Be Sunday, Nov. 4

Planning is underway for the university's open house, which will be moved from the spring to Sunday, Nov. 4, announced Dean of Students Peter A. Wilson, chair of the coordinating committee.

The name selected for the day is Uni Fest, meaning University Festival, in recognition of the campus becoming a university and the fiesta tradition of the southwestern culture. Academic programs will be highlighted during the day. Activities in the planning stage also include a western barbecue, children's art fair, information about sports and student clubs, music, art, drama and an alumni beer garden.

"The committee invites all faculty, staff and students to mark the date on their calendar and join in celebrating the start of the 20th year for Cal State. We hope many community members and prospective students also will join in our festivities," Dr. Wilson added.

Enrollment Is Up For Fall Quarter

Enrollment prospects for fall quarter are bright, with increases of 5.4 percent in students and 6.3 percent in full-time equivalent recorded at the end of the second day of registration. A busy late registration Wednesday added another 106 students and 84.4 FTE, bringing totals to 5827 head count and 4471.5 FTE. Although traditionally there is loss between the second day figures and census day, Oct. 10, this surge following the close of formal registration encourages optimism that final figures will reflect an increase greater than 6.3 percent.

CSU Reopens Washington Office

The CSU's Washington, D. C. office, closed since 1983 due to lack of funding, has reopened with Dr. Clyde C. Aveilhe as director.

For the past 12 years, Dr. Aveilhe has been associate director of the Educational Testing Service's National Relations Office, representing ETS' interests with federal agencies and various educational organizations.

The role of the CSU Washington office will be to maintain liaison with the California congressional delegation, all members of congressional committees concerned with higher education legislation and policy issues, departments of the federal government, national foundations and private corporations which impact on the CSU.

Dr. Judith Rymer, acting executive dean for university relations, will be the campus contact with the Washington office.

Inland Empire Symphony Schedules 5 Concerts

"Celebrate a Taste of the Good Life" is the theme of the coming season for the Inland Empire symphony, which features guest artists trumpeter Anthony Plog, pianist Ralph Votapek, Celeste Holm and violinist

William Preucil. A number of university members are involved in the symphony association and its guild. Information on tickets for the season, which opens Saturday, Oct. 20, is available from the Activities Office, SS 122, or the Music Department Office, CA 175.

Language Program Needs Temporary Homes

The American Culture and Language Program is seeking temporary housing for international students arriving Oct. 1 for a 10-week session on campus. Students, who are enrolled in the Cal State intensive language program, will require transportation to campus. Information is available from the ACLP office, Ext. 7666.

Public Employees Day Set For Disneyland

Art Gallery Opens With Steichen Show

A major exhibition of 106 portrait photographs by Edward Steichen, called one of the greatest portrait photographers of this century, will open the new season in the Art Gallery Monday, Oct. 1.

A reception at 7 p.m., Oct. 1 will introduce the exhibit, which will be here through Oct. 31. Gallery hours, after the opening reception, will be 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. The exhibit is on a two-year tour of the U.S.

During his 73-year career, Steichen was identified with growing recognition of photography as an art form. He was the first director of the new Photography Department at The Museum of Modern Art in New York, organizing numerous exhibitions including "The Family of Man."

Steichen's main body of work was produced between 1923 and 1938 when he was chief photographer for Vanity Fair and Vogue. His subjects included many famous personalities and popular movie stars. Initially a painter, Steichen was a founder of the Photo-Secession, a movement dedicated to promoting photography as a fine art. His early soft-focus, lyrical photographs, published in Camera Work, demonstrated the influence of European artists such as Rodin and Matisse.

Slide Show In VA 110

Slides from finalists in the 1984 International Art Competition of Los Angeles will be exhibited in VA 110 from noon to 4 p.m., Sept. 24-Oct. 12. The 35 mm slides show work in a variety of art media including sculpture, ceramics, jewelry, architecture, watercolor, drawing, printmaking, photography, graphic design, computer art, fiber and mixed media. The carousels containing the slides will run continuously.

Math, English Tests Not Required For Certificates

The entry-level mathematics competency test and the English placement test, part of the general requirements for undergraduates, are not mandatory for students seeking a certificate from the university, Steve Prouty, associate dean of academic programs, advised.

The ELM and EPT requirements apply to undergraduate students, identified by class level codes of 0 to 4. The only undergraduates who are exempt are those seeking a certificate. Students with class level codes of 5 or 6 are exempt from the requirement. This includes students seeking a second bachelor's degree, departmental clearances for a teaching major or teaching credentials.

Alumni Director Moved to VA 103

The Alumni Affairs Offices are moving closer together, with the relocation of Richard Bennecke, alumni director, to Room 103 in the Visual Arts Building. His office previously had been in T-3D. The Alumni Office is situated in VA 105. The temporary extension for the next two weeks remains Ext. 7410. The permanent number after that will be Ext. 7811.

Swimming

The pool is open for recreational swimming from 1-4 p.m., Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 22-23 and 29-30.

Reservations Still Possible To Hear Newsweek Speakers

Late reservations will be accepted through noon Monday for the World Affairs Council dinner Tuesday evening, Sept. 25, featuring a panel of editors and correspondents from Newsweek Magazine.

The program, to begin with social hour at 6 p.m. in the Commons, is co-sponsored by Cal State. The dinner is $16 per person. Reservations, accompanied by a check, may be made with the Public Affairs Office, AD 117, through noon Monday as seating is still available.

Michael Weiss To Head Community Counseling

The Community Counseling Center, a free service for the public, will begin its 10th year this fall with a new director, Dr. Michael Weiss, assistant professor of psychology.

The center, located in PS 129, is staffed by 12 graduate students in the M.S. in psychology program who work under the supervision of counseling and clinical psychologists on the faculty. The service will begin Oct. 1.

After the initial interview with the faculty member, the client will meet with the graduate student counselor. Problems which the counselors are prepared to address include interpersonal relationships, traumas caused by divorce, loss of job, change in careers, death in the family, or the "empty nest" when youngsters leave home and mother is left alone. If the center is unable to assist with a particular problem, the counselors will refer callers to an appropriate agency.

With an answering machine, a 24-hour line is maintained. The number is 887-7272.

Professional Activities

Dr. Margaret A. Atwell (Education) conducted a half-day workshop on "Metacognitive Strategies for Enhancing Comprehension" for English and reading teachers in the Long Beach Unified School District Sept. 7.

Dr. Frances Berdan (Anthropology), with Dr. Patricia Anawalt of the UCLA Cultural History Museum and the University of New Mexico Press, received a $10,000 publication grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities to defray costs for publishing the three-volume Codex Mendoza.

Dr. Amer El-Ahraf (Academic Resources) co-authored a paper, "Environmental Engineering and Public Health Aspects of Alternate Dairy Waste Management Techniques Designed to Protect Ground Water Quality," in the Journal of Environmental Health.

Pat Hadlock and Kate Lewicki (both Theatre Arts) were guest director and designer for summer productions of the Performing Arts Alliance at the University of Redlands.

Dr. Terrell Manyak (Management) chaired a workshop on "Management Education of the Adult Student" at the annual meeting of the Academy of Management Aug. 14-15 in Boston. Workshop participants were Dr. John Huonker and Dr. Steven Levy (both Management) and Dr. Jack McDonnell (Marketing and Management Science). Dr. Manyak also served on a panel on "Rule-Making and Strategy in Public Bureaucracy."

Dr. Lee Porter (Extended Education) served on an evaluation team for the Assn. of Independent Colleges and Schools Sept. 17 in Salt Lake City for the accreditation of Mountainwest Computer Schools.

Dr. Edward M. White (English) has two articles published this summer--"Post-Structural Literary Criticism and the Response to Student Writing" in the May issue of College Composition and Communication and "The Dangers of Singlespeak" in the July edition of The Quarterly Review of Doublespeak.

Community Service

Dr. Louise Burton (Education) has been elected vice president of the East Valley Mental Health Assn.

Joe Long (Physical Education and Recreation) spoke to the Crest Forest Junior Women's Club Sept. 12 on the topic "High School Student Exchange Programs." Long is the area representative for the American Scandinavian Student Exchange.

Dr. Reginald Price (Physical Education and Recreation/Athletics) discussed the new intercollegiate sports programs at a meeting of the Crestline-Lake Gregory Rotary Club Sept. 7.

Dr. Tom Rivera (Educational Support Services) was the keynote speaker at the Norton Air Force Base observance of Hispanic Heritage Week. His luncheon talk Sept. 17 was "The American Soldier of Mexican Descent--His Legacy to America."

Frank Slaton (Computer Center) and one of Cal State's robots were featured in a recent issue of Young Jump, a Japanese-language news magazine. The author had visited the campus during the April 1984 Robot Olympics.

Philip West (Music) provided sound reinforcement for the Diabetes Assn. benefit honoring James Guthrie Sept. 15.

Best Wishes

The campus community extends congratulations to Tamara Lilienthal and Dr. Charles Hoffman (Psychology) who were married Saturday, Sept. 15 at Glen Ranch. They will reside in San Bernardino.
